Providing for Life Insurance. NEWBURGH, March 28.—The ninety-eighth session of the New York Conference of the fethodist Episcopal Church began this morning in Trinity Church. The Rev. Bishop Edward Gayer Andrews, D. D., LL. D., presided. All the members were not present at the morn-ing session, but came in during the day until 250, or nearly all the members, were present in the evening. Bishop Andrews opened the Cencrence at 9 A. M. with the sacrament of the Lord's Supper. At 10 o'clock the Conference was organized and the reutine business began. The list of superannuated and supernumerary ministers was first called. The roll and the list of collections of the New York district was then called for, and answered by Presiding Elder A. J. Palmer of the New York district. The Rev. John Rher Thomason, D. D., of Washington Square Church, New York city, preached the Conjerance sermon in the evening.

At 8 P. M. the Ministers' Mutual Assistance slety held its annual meeting. For fifteen years they have endeavored to have a life innce clause inserted in their constitution. but every time it was brought up it was dropped on account of opposition. It was first intended to turn the society into a mutual insurance association, but it was found that the idea conflicted with their articles of incorsoration, and, besides, they would be subject to taxation. At the meeting to-day the following clauses were added to the constitution:

cinuses were added to the constitution:

Any member of the New York Annual Centerence, who is not more than 50 years old, was shall present the certificate of a practising physician, accompanying his sum written declaration, that he is accompanying his sum written declaration, that he is threaten to shorten the same of the same

The following section provides for the fam-les of deceased clergymen:

lies of deceased clergymen:
Upon the death of any member whose assessments have been fully met, and whoshall leaves widow, minor child, or children, the Treasurer shall be subtorised to pay at once the sum of $50, as a special contribution from this society, for the banefit of said widow, minor pay at once the sum of $500, as a special contribution from this society, for the banefit of said widow, minor child, or children. This contribution shall be reckoned as a part of the distributions made by the Board of Officers and Managers at their next amoust meeting.

Upon the death of any assessable immober of this society the secretary shall notify every other such members at his carliest opportunity, and each of these whose age at the time of endorsing this continuous as not not shall not be such as the such decreased brother the sum of $50 with twenty-five cents added to this amount for every year, or more than half year, that he was over 20 at the time of entering into this agreement.

If so be that my widow or minor child be left, then the amount cellected from these assessments shall be used for the payment of outstanding debts of said deceased in marking the place of its burish.

Another revision was as follows:

If any member fails to pay his assessment within sixty age or received notice, he shall for feit all claiming pent the sessment leatures or, this society, and it shall not be gatered to him except upon a vote of the Board of Offi-ers and Namyers, and upon his paying all back dues and so penaty.

It created some surprise when the revised constitution was adopted without a dissenting vote, and hardly any discussion. One member objected to the paying of twenty-five cents extra for every year after the twentieth, claiming that it obliged a man to pay for the privilege of growing old.

LAWYER HAWES DOESN'T GET IT. SS.500 Fee Out of a $4,500 Verglet,

The General Term of the Supreme Court yesterday reversed the decision of the lower court, dismissing the complaint in the suit of amuel Morgan against Lawrer Gilbert R. Hawas, and ordered a new trial. Morgan was employed by the Singer Manufacturing Company, and on Sept. 13, 1883, had his arm torn from its socket by the machinery. Hawes was employed to sue the company for $25,000 damages. He did this, and get from Morgan an agreement that he should receive 75 per cent. of the amount recovered. He got $1,000 from Hawes pending the trial of the suit, but signed of the amount recovered. He got $1,000 from Hawes pending the trial of the suit, but signed a naper which was a general release on the verdict. Then Hawes settled the suit for $4,500. Morgan sued to recover $3,500 of that sum, but the lawyer produced the agreement, and the complaint was dismissed. Morgan appealed.

Judge Brady, who wrote the opinion of the court, which is concurred in by Presiding Justice Van Brunt and Judge Daniels, says: "The agreement is still subject to the surveillance of the court, who will protect the client from any unconscionable actions. It is not at all unlikely that even seventy-five per cent, of the recovery would be regarded as extortionate, nithough it is not necessary now to decide. We have enough, in dealing with the agreement as to the settlement, to invoke the supervisory power of the court. The retention of $3,500 by the defondant, whether as the result of an agreement or understanding or acquiescence, or by whatever element may be called into its aid, is wholly unjustifiable, unconscionable, and ought not to be tolerated. The case was not a difficult or extraordinary one, and the settlement seems to have been effected after but little labor and without the expenditure of a large amount of intellectual force. As we have seen, from an examination of the record, that an injustice has been done, we consider it an imperative duty to reverse the judgment. The Court therefore directs a pew trial in order that substantial justice may be done the plaintiff."

Child's Legitimacy in Vain. Judge O'Brien yesterday confirmed the report of Referee John O'Byrne in the suit for absolute divorce instituted by Robert Wood Johnson against Ells Cutting Johnson, Mr. Johnson, who is a man of wealth, and Miss Outting, on Aug. 9, 1880, made an agreement in writing to live together as man and wife. A child was born three years later. While Mr. Johnson was out West his wife went to Great Neck, L. I., and lived with a handsome young lawyer as his wife. When Johnson returned he brought suit for divorce. She refused to give up the child and defended the suit, claiming that the contract was an illegal one, and against public morals. Referee O'Byrne, how-ever, found that the agreement constituted a legal marriage.

marriage. Judge O'Brien in his decision says:

"As the parties now stand, we see a woman seeking to obtain a judicial decree which shall trand her as having voluntarily entered into a contract to become the concubine of a man, although the man not only admits but contends that the contract in question was one of lawful marriage, and that she is his lawful wife. The defendant's contention therefore, when we consider the effect upon her own status and that of her child, the consequence of which is to sacrifice the claim of her infant daughter to have been legitimately born, and to deprive her of her right to any estate of which her father might die selzed and possessed, is still a more novel defence."

Barnum to Build a New Mansies. BRIDGEPORT, March 28 .- P. T. Barnum gave out a few weeks ago that he should never reside again in the old Waldemere mansion a Seaside Park. He has decided to build a sum-Seaside Park. He has decided to build a summer residence on the Waldemere plot, just south of the present structure. Mr. Barnum signed the contract yesterday for the house, which will be built of brick and sandates, with ferra cotta trimmings, and reof of red state and copper ornaments. The location will be the highest point of Waldemere, and will command a broad expanse of Long Island Sound, Black Rock Harber, and Senside Park. Mr. Barnum will expend $75,000 for the house, and half as much more in its furnishings.

MRS. BROWER STAYED AWAY.

Testimony for the Defence in the Ens.

In the trial yesterday in Long Island City of Lewis F. Brower, accused of a mur-derous assault on his wife while she was asleep in their house in East Meadow on the night of Dec. 9, Farmer Buck, who lives a mile south of Brower, said he saw a man running past his house at daylight the next morning toward Belmore station from the direction of Brower's house. He went to Brower's house between 8 and 9 o'clock that norning, and saw the old man go out to the woodpile and chop wood in the rain with the axe that other witnesses had observed to be bloody, and which they afterward saw clean of axe that other witnesses had observed to be bloody, and which they afterward saw clean of blood but wet with water. Joseph Robinson confirmed Buck's statements about the man seen running toward Belmore.

Mary Jane Lewis, Brower's alleged paramour, who was arrested as an accomplice of Brower, testified that she did not go over to Brower's until the day after the news of the assault was made public. She admitted that Brower had helped her cut up a hog, and they had finished the work on the day before the assault. She denied any intimacy with Brower, and said he had never dene anything for her that she didn't pay him for. She always paid him when he took her out driving. They went out for business, not for pleasure.

Brower took the stand in his own behalf.

"We sat poeling apples that night until bedtime," he said. Then my wife and I went to bed. I was awakened by a noise in the kitchen, and was getting out of bed when I saw the two men coming toward us with a wee bit of a light. In my fright I ran out of the front door just in time to avoid a blow that one of them struck at me, and I heard a groan in the bed as it my wife had been struck. I stayed in the outer shed an hour in my flaunels, and then returned to the house to get my clothes on to go for help. I didn't crawl up over the shed into the garret window, and I never said so. I returned the same way I went out. I took my clothes to the barn to dreas because I was alraid the men were still around. When I had ot help and returned to my house my wife raised ber hand and cried 'Oh! Oh!' in great agony. Then she sank into unconsciousness. Merritt and I tried to raileve her, and then covered her up. This accounts for the smooth condition of the bed. When I looked in the pantry the $330 which I had laid away in a bandbox was gone. I had had money," Brower said he cut wood in the rain that morning with the axe that was in the court room. He had used it to cut up hogs earlier in the week, and that was the way the blood got on it. He had never quarrelied in his lite his wife.

In his endeavor to submit the documents by which Brower, "out of love for his wife," while in prison, deeded to her a farm worth $2,000 and gave her $750 in cash, Lawyer Mott said that Brower and his wife had agreed to live apart, and that she released her right of dower and promised to take no part in any action against him.

This is a pretty serious matter," said the Court, "and the night amount to felony if what you say is true."

Court." and it might amount to felony if what you say is true."
It is said the defence was afraid to call Mrs. Brower, while the prosecution did not dare to, the idea of the latter being that in consequence of the transfer of the farm and money the wife would endeavor to aid her husband on the witness stand. If, on the other hand. Lawyer Mott had called her. District Attorney Fleming might have broken down her teatinony. She is alleged to have said a great many thing against her husband before the transfer of the property. Under all those considerations she was allowed to remain away from court on the strength of a doctor's certificate of ill health.

"Did you spend all of it?"

"Well, I gave some of it to a lawyer."

"Did you get a receipt for it?"

No. I don't think either one of us was in a condition to give a receipt that night."

"How do you support yourself?"

"I have a son who is able to support me. I always have plenty of money, and I would like to see you get any of it."

"What property do you own now?"

"I own no property at present, but I hope to have after this case is over. I should be very happy if you would find some for me now."

"Do you make contracts now?"

"Do you make contracts now?"

"No. sir: I have not personally made any contracts for about nine years. I have as agent for my wife within four or five years."

"What compensation did you receive from her?"

The ex-Alderman stated that he had no interest in his son's business, and that he did not own any horses or carriages. When asked about the sliver watch and gold chain that he was wearing, he said that belonged to his son and that he had taken it from the mantelpiece

"Where do you get all these watches from?"

"Oh, the boys win them at church fairs."

"Did you ever nave a watch of your owa?"

"I once had a gold watch valued at $400 that my wife gave me. Perhaps she has it yet."

The cx-Alderman became angry when Lawyer Rothschild told him "that he had another claim of $81 against him in favor of Blooming-dale Brothers. He said such a statement was false and he did no owe it, and expressed a willingness to bet $10 that it was not so.

that they were forced to consider our demands for fair treatment in the mast, not from any wish on their part to do the fair thing, but because we made them do it. I expect to see the biggest kind of a light ever this question. Our meeting on Sunday will decide what action shall be taken."

The committee from the Brewery Workmen's Union did not call yesterday upon Secretary Seiffert of the Brewers' Association. Ernst Kurzen Knobe, their Secretary, said:

"A circular, such as was printed in the papers, was sent to us, with a letter from Mr. Seiffert, saying that this was the action of the Board of Trustees of the Lager Beer Brewers' Association. We will make no further efforts to see the Brewers' Association until our meeting on Sunday next. Our agreement has until April 15 to run. There is plenty of time to discuss a new agreement."

Judge Martine on Pentine Plinte. A trial of a case of robbery was begun before Judge Martine in the General Sessions yesterday, and the witnesses were requested to yesterary, and the witnesses were requested to go into the corridor. About fifty people, nearly all is the court room, poured out of the door. "If all those witnesses belong to this case," said Judge Martine, "it will require the remainder of the term to finish the case, and I never heard of any magistrate holding court on Good Friday excepting Pontius Pilate."
"And," added Assistant District Attorney Goff, "his judgment was reversed."

THE BRITANNIA RELD UNDER POLICE GUARD IN THE HARBOR.

Pive Bundred Unfortunate Italians Mar-

Been Vaccinated Three Times and are Not Ashere Tet-Passed Quarantine, but Stopped by the Beard of Realth. The steamer Britannia of the Cyprian-Fabre line, that arrived on Sunday night from Naples with 550 Italians, a cargo of fruit, and a case of small-pox aboard, and secured per-mission from Health Officer Smith on Tuesday morning to land at her pier at once, has not succeeded in landing there yet. Last night Island, and a boat load of Police Captain Smith's harbor policemen were on guard alongside to see that she did not move, and that no one either boarded or embarked from her. The steamer is held in midstream by the order of the Health Board officers, until the Health land her passengers and cargo. When the Britannia arrived at Quarantine at 2 o'clock Monday morning Health Officer Smith found that a passenger on board had been suffering from small-pox since the 18th inst. He had been attacked fifteen days after the steamer left Naples. Health Officer Smith had the patient removed to the Quarantine Hospital on North Brothers Island, and after detaining the vessel at Quarantine until Tuesday morning, gave Capt. Parazols, the commander, a clean bill of health, and permission to proceed to the Brooklyn stores at the foot of Pacific street.

Officers of the Brooklyn Beard of Health, backed up by a small squad of policemen, were in wait at the pier, and forced Capt. Parazols to have the steamer towed out into the river again when he attempted to dock her. The Brooklyn health officers just before this had ordered the steamer Iniziavita out into the stream after she had landed 200 of her 500 or 600 Italian steerage passengers. There had been small-pox on the iniziavita, too.
Capt. Moore, the landing officer of Castle Garden, at once sent word to the Board of Health of this city of what the Brooklyn health officials had done. Dr. Edson came down Tuesday sight, and went out to the Britannia on the police boat Patrol and examined the passengers. He came back, and reported to Banitary Superintendent Day that the steamer was in a very filthy condition. Superintendent Day at once sent out an order to Gapt. Parazols forbidding him to land, because the passengers were still in a condition dangerous to the health of the city. Police Superintendent Murray at once gave orders that the steamer be put under strict surveillance and kept away from land.

Drs. Edson. Disbrow. Goldsmith, and Banta went on board of her yesterday afternoon with a big load of virus quills and vaccinated ail
the 549 passengers, and then allowed Capt.
Parazols and Ship Surgeon Guippone to land

it might be several days before it would be asfe to let the steamer come te her dock.

Progress of the Mulberry Bend Park. The Mulberry Bend Park was at last duly authorized by the Board of Street Openings yesterday. E. Ellery Anderson, on behalf of certain property holders, gave the Board notice that it would cost the city about $1,000,000 to acquire the property; that although from the valuations placed on the property by the Commissioners of Taxes and Assessments the cost had been estimated at $600,000, the rents now received justify the belief that the property is worth $1,000,000.

"But." suggested Mayor Hewitt, "may it not received justify the belief that the property is worth $1,000,000.

"But," suggested Mayor Hewitt, "may it not be assumed that the property holders did not consider the property worth more since they have acquiesced in the assessment?"

"Oh. ns." replied Mr. Anderson. "It only shows that they were very grateful to the Commissioners for their liberal assessment."

The property holders adjoining the park are to be assessed 30 per cent, and the city pays the balance of the cost. The area of assessment will include all property in the area near the park within 100 feet of Canal street, Bowerry, Pearl and Elm streets.

Agent Ter Kuile of the Cyprien-Fabre line said that Health Officer Smith had thoroughly examined the steamer, vaccinated all the passengers, and fumigated the vassel besides, and then let her pass, because there was no further danger. Agent Ter Kuile also said that Capt. Parazols had also had all the passengers vaccinated, and the vessel quarantined, when the small-pox was discovered on the 18th inst.

The Britannia was one of the steamers that had an outbreak of cholers aboard on her way to America during the big cholers scare last iseptember. Agent Ter Kuile said that as her present passengers have now been vaccinated three immest they ought to be small-pox proof.

A delegation of several hundred Italians hovered around Castle Garden all day yesterday. Several boat loads of them were turned back by the police when they tried to get to the steamer. | ROO N. Y. corporate affairs to inexperienced hands, the ears in the stock market have acquired sufficient courage and capital to boldly inaugurate a reign of terror of their own. The first two days of this week they utilized their misrepresentations regarding Reading. To-day the misapprehensions regarding that property seemed to be passing away, presumably because a number of publications revealed the fallacy, not to say dishonesty, of some of the arguments that have been used against the property. New material was found for a further demonstration against values in the fact that the representatives of the anthracite companies, at their conference vesterday failed to agree upon an allotment of he production for the year beginning April 1. This was magnified into a declaration of war on the part of the several interests in the anthracite coal trade, and in consequence the attack upon the coal stocks was renewed. At the opening it centred in Reading, but after a good many thousand shares had been sold at 55 it began to be appreciated that there must

WEDNESDAY. March 28.—FLOUR AND MEAL—The demand was very fair for all grades at full prices and a sightly hardening tendency.

Corrow—Futures opened at a further advance, in response to an improvement of 263-64ths at Liverpool, with the movement of the crep quite small, giving, in fact, some promise of the "horizontal drop" that has been so long predicted and so long delayed. The opward tendency continued to the second call, when August showed an advance of 21 points for the day and 40 points from the lowest figure on Monday, with other months close in its rear. Then the buying was checked, and under some sales to realize prices receded a few points, but the close was firm. There begins to be some talk about a backward planting season and floods.
